dimensions of american poetry particular attention is paid to women poets and poets from various ethnic groups poets such as amiri baraka nathaniel mackey natasha trethewey and tracy smith are featured the encyclopedia also contains entries on a wide selection of latino and native american poets and substantial coverage of the avant garde and experimental movements and provides sidebars that illuminate key points america did not declare independence in its poetry as quickly or as dramatically as in politics it took time for the new nation to free itself from the many and widely contrasting traditions customs codes and cultures it had inherited and expressed itself through scores of imitators before it found its own characteristic way of thinking reacting and writing here is the poetry of early america revealing the spirit the scenes and the turbulence of the period and setting forth the works of over forty accomplished poets many of whom are forgotten to all but the literary historian this collection is devoted to the expanding spirit as well as the formative genius of america the oxford handbook of modern and contemporary american poetry gives readers a cutting edge introduction to the kaleidoscopic world of american poetry over the last century offering a comprehensive approach to the debates that have defined the study of american verse the twenty five original essays contained herein take up a wide array of topics the influence of jazz on the beats and beyond european and surrealist influences on style poetics of the disenfranchised religion and the national epic antiwar and dissent poetry the aids epidemic digital innovations transnationalism hip hop and more alongside these topics major interpretive perspectives such as marxist psychoanalytic disability queer and ecocritical are incorporated throughout the names that have shaped american poetry in the period ezra pound wallace stevens marianne moore mina loy sterling brown hart crane william carlos williams posey langston hughes allen ginsberg john ashbery rae armantrout larry eigner and others serve as touchstones along the tour of the poetic landscape the beats black mountain and new modes of american poetry explores correspondences amongst the black mountain and beat generation writers two of most well known and influential groups of poets in the 1950s the division of writers as beat or black mountain has hindered our understanding of the ways that these poets developed from mutual influences benefitted from direct relations and overlapped their boundaries this collection of academic essays refines and adds context to beat studies and black mountain studies by investigating the groups intersections and undercurrents one goal of the book is to deconstruct the beat and black mountain labels in order to reveal the shifting and fluid relationships among the individual poets who developed a revolutionary poetics in the 1950s and beyond taken together these essays clarify the radical experimentation with poetics undertaken by these poets american writers focuses on the rich diversity of american novelists in 1979 five american poets helped to change our senses of american poetry introducing the work of robert hass john matthias james mcmichael john peck and robert pinsky to british readers and writers now in a much changed landscape this volume revisits that constellation of writers additional contributors are david c mearns and frances cheney donald allen s prophetic anthology had an electrifying effect on two generations at least of american poets and readers more than the repetition of familiar names and ideas that most anthologies seem to be about here was the declaration of a collective intelligent and thoroughly visionary work in progress the primary example for its time of the anthology as manifesto its republication today complete with poems statements on poetics and autobiographical projections provides us again with a model of how a contemporary anthology can and should be shaped in these essentials it remains as fresh and useful a guide as it was in 1960 jerome rothenberg editor of poems for the millennium the new american poetry is a crucial cultural document central to defining the poetics and the broader cultural dynamics of a particular historical moment alan golding author of from outlaw to classic canons in american poetry in this generous anthology joel conarroe has assembled the work of eight poets who have shaped and to some extent defined american verse since 1940 elizabeth bishop james merrill sylvia plath allen ginsberg theodore roethke john berryman anne sexton and robert lowell the 164 selections in eight american poets include widely anthologized works like roethke s my papa s waltz several of berryman s dream songs and anne sexton s ringing the bells as well as poems that are less familiar but just as haunting prefaced with a discerning introduction and individual biographical essays
